Stella must rely on her emotions, senses of hearing and touch to identify the colours she comes across in her adventures. In this action packed fable, Stella and Rocky along with the help of the mighty Star Warriors go on an intense and gripping adventure to save the planet of Mars. Can Mars and its Star People be saved? Or is it just too late? Many children do not understand disabilities. Likewise, many parents are not sure how to explain impairment to a curious child. This book gives insight into what visual impairment is from a child s perspective, in a natural but imaginative way, and at the same time portrays the disabled child in a heroic manner. It may be a source of inspiration to those families or children who are learning to deal with impairments.
