Then the wife of the elderly man who had wound the clock got all the occupants of the room together in the back seats, had her husband fix the fire once more, and then delegated him to invite me to join their Sunday-school. I was glad to accept the kindly invitation. Before we had fairly settled ourselves to work we heard voices in the sheathed-up gallery. There are those boys up there getting all cobwebs, said our leader; and she forthwith sent for them, and had them brought in. Our teacher read the opening exercises in tones sounding and oracular; and the elderly man followed with a feeble-voiced prayer, ending with the Lord s Prayer, in which all joined. In this, as in the responsive reading of the lesson, a few voices spoke with audible decision; but most were content with a gentle murmuring, while some of the youngest barely mumbled, and did very well if they got in one distinct word out of ten. CLOUDS AND SUNSHINE The asking and answering of the routine questions was next in order; and a middle-aged woman took the two youngest boys into a pew beyond the stove. She sat in the seat in front of this infant class, and turned half-way around and leaned over its back while she asked them the list of questions found on the righthand page of the quarterly. The boys were either not interested or not very well...
